

GLOBAL WEEK AHEAD

Sunday 30 August 2026 · The weekend companion to Daily Need to Know

Everything coming up. Week of Mon 31 August. All times GMT+8.

Regime: Hedgeye Quad 3 (growth slowing, inflation re-accelerating) since the mid-Feb pivot. New Fed Chair Kevin Warsh read hawkish at Jackson Hole — markets now price a live September rate-hike risk. Gold at records, long-end yields near the 5.25% regime-switch line. This is a week that ends on U.S. payrolls.

1 • Setup snapshot

Where the majors settled Friday 28 August, and the read into the Monday Asia open.

Instrument	Fri close	Day	Into Monday — what to expect
S&P 500	7,711.76	-0.25%	First winning week in three (+0.5%); futures soft after hawkish Warsh
Nasdaq Comp	26,402.42	-0.52%	Semis (NVDA, INTC) led Fri slide; +0.9% on the week
Dow	53,559.99	-0.02%	Flat Fri (-9.45 pts); +0.5% wk — most resilient of the three
UST 10Y	4.66%	+2 bp	Backed up into Jackson Hole; long end the key tell
UST 2Y	4.19%	+2 bp	2s10s +47 bp; hike risk keeps front end sticky
DXY	99.71	+0.3%	Bounced off session lows; NFP is the swing factor
Gold	~$4,460	+1.8%	Record vicinity; inflation-worry + haven bid — CONFIRM live
Silver	~$65.6	+1.3%	Riding gold; industrial + monetary tailwind
WTI	$83.11	-0.1%	Geopolitical supply premium building
Brent	$88.22	-0.3%	Hormuz / Russian-refinery strikes on the radar
Bitcoin	~$77,000	-5%	Broke from ~$81k; risk-off tell, watch $74k

Levels: index closes per CNBC/Yahoo/24-7 Wall St; UST yields per U.S. Treasury (26 Aug official); DXY, gold, silver, oil, BTC per Trading Economics / Convex / RIO Times (28 Aug). Gold and BTC prints varied across venues — confirm live.

2 • TL;DR

A quiet-looking calendar with a loud ending. The week builds through China PMIs (Mon–Thu), Eurozone flash CPI (Tue) and the U.S. ISM double-header (Mfg Tue, Services Thu), then two central-bank decisions Wednesday (RBNZ and Bank of Canada). But everything routes to Friday’s U.S. August jobs report — the first read since July’s shock contraction. With Warsh’s Fed leaning against inflation, a second soft payroll would slam the growth-scare and hike-risk narratives together. Broadcom (Wed after the close) is the AI bellwether inside it. Trade the data, respect thin pre-Labor-Day liquidity into Friday.

3 • The big picture — what to watch

1) Payrolls Friday: the growth scare meets a hawkish Fed

July stunned with a reported -23k in nonfarm payrolls (Trading Economics), versus consensus near +80k, with prior months revised lower. Unemployment sits at ~4.2%. August is the swing print: stabilization keeps the soft-landing alive; a second negative number forces the market to reconcile slowing labor with a Fed Chair who just said inflation is running too high.

Watch: A weak headline that also carries hot average hourly earnings is the worst mix for duration and equities — it validates Quad 3. Barbell quality/defensives with gold; keep dry powder for the knee-jerk into a thin, pre-holiday tape.

2) The Warsh Fed and a live September hike

Post-Jackson Hole, Fed-funds pricing swung to ~57% odds of a September hike (CNBC), even as Polymarket showed ~68% no-change / ~31% +25 bp for the 16 Sep FOMC. Either way, the cut narrative is dead for now; most economist forecasts push the next cut into 2027.

Watch: This is a rates-up, dollar-supported regime until data break it. Long-duration Treasuries and unprofitable growth are the pressure points; financials and cash-flow compounders screen better.

3) Long-end yields at the 5.25% regime line

The 30Y closed 5.18%, the 20Y 5.17% — pressing Hedgeye's 5.25% "regime-switch" threshold. A decisive break above it historically flips the correlation regime and hits multiples.

Watch: Every ISM prices-paid and the AHE line feeds the long end. A 30Y print through 5.25% is the signal to de-gross duration-sensitive equities (long-duration tech, REITs, utilities).

4) China's pulse: four PMIs in four days

Official manufacturing PMI has hovered at/below 50 (49.2 last). This week stacks NBS (Mon), Caixin Mfg (Tue) and Caixin Services (Thu). China momentum sets the tone for AUD/NZD, copper, and the broader reflation debate.

Watch: A cluster above 50 revives the commodity-reflation trade (miners, energy, EM FX). Sub-50 across the board pressures AUD, NZD and industrial metals into the Asia opens.

5) Broadcom carries the AI tape

AVGO reports Wednesday after the U.S. close. Consensus: revenue ~$29.4B, non-GAAP EPS ~$3.24 (roughly double y/y), with AI semiconductor revenue guided near $16B (+200% y/y). After Friday's semis wobble, it is the single biggest single-stock catalyst of the week.

Watch: Custom-ASIC backlog and AI-revenue guidance are the tells. A beat-and-raise steadies the Nasdaq and Asia tech (TSMC, SK Hynix); a soft AI number re-opens the semis drawdown.

6) Energy's geopolitical bid

Ukrainian drone strikes on Russian refineries (Ryazan hit 27 Aug) and Strait-of-Hormuz / Red-Sea tension are rebuilding a supply premium just as the Bank of Canada flags oil as a policy complication. Brent holds ~$88, WTI ~$83.

Watch: An energy spike is stagflation fuel in a Quad 3 tape — bullish energy equities, bearish rate-sensitives. Watch the OPEC+ meeting (expected Sun 6 Sep) as next-weekend risk.

4 • Economic calendar — the week ahead

All times GMT+8. Consensus shown where reliable; confirm live before acting. Prior in parentheses.

Monday 31 August

09:30 CN NBS Manufacturing & Non-Mfg PMI (Aug). Mfg prior 49.2. First read on China momentum; sub-50 = contraction, pressures yuan and commodity FX.

20:00 DE Germany flash CPI / HICP (Aug). Prior +2.8% y/y. Curtain-raiser for Tuesday's euro-area flash.

Tuesday 1 September

09:45 CN Caixin / RatingDog Manufacturing PMI (Aug). Prior 50.9. Export-tilted, private-sector read.

14:00 DE Germany retail sales (Jul). Consumer pulse for the euro area's largest economy.

17:00 EA Eurozone flash HICP (Aug), incl. core. Prior headline +2.9% y/y, core +2.5%. Sticky above 2% keeps the ECB on hold.

22:00 US ISM Manufacturing (Aug). Prior 55.6. Watch the prices-paid sub-index — the week's first inflation tell.

Wednesday 2 September

09:30 AU Australia Q2 GDP. Prior +0.3% q/q. Sets the RBA-easing debate.

10:00 NZ RBNZ cash-rate decision. At 2.50% after a surprise July hike; another 25 bp is on the table.

11:00 NZ RBNZ press conference (Gov. Orr). Forward guidance on the inflation-driven tightening.

20:15 US ADP private payrolls (Aug). Prior +44k. Imperfect but market-moving NFP preview.

21:45 CA Bank of Canada decision. At 2.25%; a hold is the base case given the oil-price complication.

22:30 CA BoC press conference (Gov. Macklem). Tone on oil and the growth trade-off.

~05:00 Thu US Broadcom (AVGO) Q3 earnings — after the U.S. close. See §6.

Thursday 3 September

09:30 AU Australia trade balance (Jul). China-demand proxy.

09:45 CN Caixin / RatingDog Services PMI (Aug). Prior 50.1. Services the swing factor for China growth.

14:30 CH Switzerland CPI (Aug). SNB easing bias if inflation stays near zero.

15:00 CH Switzerland Q2 GDP.

16:30 UK BoE Inflation Report / MPC hearings. Parliament testimony; hawkish tone lifts sterling.

22:00 US ISM Services (Aug). Prior 54.1. ~80% of GDP; services-inflation read is the pre-payrolls tell.

Friday 4 September

17:00 EA Eurozone retail sales (Jul).

20:30 CA Canada employment (Aug). Unemployment prior ~6.4%.

20:30 US NONFARM PAYROLLS (Aug) + unemployment + average hourly earnings. The event. July printed -23k; unemployment ~4.2%. A second contraction collides with a Fed leaning hawkish — confirm consensus live.

5 • Central banks & policy events

RBNZ — Wed 10:00. Cash rate 2.50%. Having hiked in July for the first time since Nov 2025 on re-accelerating inflation, another +25 bp is live; a hawkish hold is the alternative. NZD-positive on a hike.

Bank of Canada — Wed 21:45. Rate 2.25%. A hold is base case; rising oil argues against further easing. Watch Macklem for the balance between growth softness and imported inflation.

Bank of England — Thu 16:30. Not a decision, but MPC Inflation Report hearings in Parliament. A hawkish tone on sticky UK inflation supports the pound.

Fed (looming) — 16 Sep FOMC. Not this week, but the gravitational center. Post-Warsh pricing: ~57% Sep-hike odds (CNBC) vs Polymarket's ~31% +25 bp / ~68% hold. Every U.S. data point this week feeds it.

ECB (looming). Next decision expected the following week (~10–11 Sep). Tuesday's flash CPI is the key input; a hot core keeps the ECB firmly on hold.

6 • Earnings on deck

A light week post-Q2 season — but it carries the AI bellwether.

Broadcom (AVGO) — Wed 2 Sep, after close. Consensus revenue ~$29.4B, non-GAAP EPS ~$3.24 (roughly 2x y/y). AI semis guided ~$16B (+200% y/y), now >half of revenue. Market wants: sustained AI backlog, custom-ASIC traction, and a clean raise. The single biggest catalyst of the week.

NIO (NIO) — Tue 1 Sep, pre-open. EPS est. -$0.07. Focus on deliveries, gross margin trajectory and cash burn amid China EV price wars.

DocuSign (DOCU) — Thu 3 Sep, after close. EPS est. $1.09, revenue est. ~$867M. Billings and net-retention are the tells on software demand.

Other software/hardware names may report around Tue–Wed (e.g., enterprise-software tail); confirm the live earnings calendar.

7 • Catalysts & events

Data catalysts: U.S. ISM Mfg (Tue) & Services (Thu); the China PMI cluster (Mon–Thu); Eurozone flash CPI (Tue); and U.S. payrolls (Fri) as the capstone.

Single-stock: Broadcom (Wed) as the AI read-through for the Nasdaq and Asia semis.

Liquidity / seasonality: U.S. markets are open all week — Labor Day falls Mon 7 Sep (next week). But Friday's NFP lands into thin pre-holiday liquidity, amplifying the move. September seasonality (private-sector-surplus fade after early month) is a headwind Hedgeye flags from mid-month.

Commodities/energy: OPEC+ output meeting expected Sun 6 Sep (next weekend) — position energy before the close Friday.

8 • Rates, currencies & commodities

Rates: 10Y 4.66%, 2Y 4.19%, 30Y 5.18%. Bias is higher into the data; 5.25% on the 30Y is the level that matters. 2s10s at +47 bp — a bear-steepener on hot inflation is the pain trade for duration.

FX: DXY 99.71, supported by hike-risk. NFP is the swing factor — a soft print with hot wages is dollar-ambiguous (growth vs inflation). AUD/NZD hostage to China PMIs and the RBNZ; CAD to the BoC and oil; CHF bid as a haven.

Commodities: Gold near records (~$4,460) on the inflation-worry + haven combo — the cleanest Quad 3 expression. Silver ~$65.6 rides along. Brent ~$88 / WTI ~$83 carry a rebuilding geopolitical premium. Watch copper as the China-PMI tell.

Crypto: Bitcoin ~$77k after breaking from ~$81k — a risk-appetite tell. $74k is the line; a hold keeps the range, a break opens downside as macro tightens.

9 • Hedgeye risk ranges & regime

Regime: Quad 3 (growth slowing, inflation accelerating) — the pivot from Quad 1 dates to mid-February 2026. In Quad 3 the winners are gold, energy, commodities and defensives; the losers are long-duration bonds and unprofitable growth. The Dollar-S&P inverse correlation that defined the regime has been breaking down, which Hedgeye flags as a late-cycle tell.

Immediate-term risk ranges below are analytically derived and anchored to Friday closes and Hedgeye's public Quad-3 commentary (late Aug 2026). The live Hedgeye Risk Range™ product was not accessible in this run — confirm exact bands and TREND signals against it before acting.

Instrument	Immediate-term risk range	Ref (Fri)	TREND
S&P 500	7,585 – 7,825	7,712	Bullish
Nasdaq Comp	25,900 – 26,850	26,402	Bullish
UST 10Y yield	4.55% – 4.80%	4.66%	Bullish*
DXY	98.9 – 100.6	99.71	Neutral
Gold	$4,300 – $4,660	~4,460	Bullish
Silver	$61.5 – $68.0	~65.6	Bullish
WTI	$79 – $86	83.11	Neutral
Brent	$84 – $91	88.22	Neutral
Bitcoin	$73,500 – $88,000	~77,000	Bearish

*10Y "Bullish" = yields biased higher (bearish bonds).

Where we sit / what would change the regime: Quad 3 holds while inflation gauges (ISM prices-paid, AHE, flash CPIs) stay firm and the long end presses higher. The regime changes if payrolls collapse hard enough to flip the Fed dovish (growth-scare Quad 4) — or, conversely, if a decisive 30Y break above 5.25% triggers a broader multiple de-rate. Constructive into mid-September, then respect the seasonal fade.

10 • Positioning & themes

Crowded / stretched: Gold and silver are extended after a record run — right regime, but stretched; expect sharp two-way moves around NFP. AI semis remain a crowded long that wobbled Friday; Broadcom is the referendum.

Duration: Long Treasuries are the consensus pain trade if inflation prints hot — the 30Y at 5.18% is the tell. Underweight long-duration equities (long-duration tech, REITs, utilities) until the long end settles.

Vol / credit: Confirm VIX live — the Friday risk-off and thin pre-holiday Friday argue for a firmer vol bid into NFP; credit spreads have been benign, so watch for any widening as the first crack. Owning optionality into Friday's payrolls is cheap insurance.

The tells to watch: (1) ISM prices-paid + AHE for inflation; (2) the 30Y vs 5.25%; (3) Broadcom's AI guide for the Nasdaq; (4) China PMIs for AUD/NZD and copper; (5) Bitcoin $74k as the risk-appetite thermometer.

11 • Geopolitics — what's live

Energy supply shock risk: Ukrainian drone strikes on Russian refineries (Ryazan hit 27 Aug) are described as the most severe refining crisis in years; combined with Strait-of-Hormuz / Red-Sea tension and Iran-Oman passage talks, the oil supply premium is rebuilding.

Trade / tariffs: Washington has doubled tariffs on India over Russian-oil purchases, with the risk of similar action on China (the largest buyer of Russian crude) — a potential shock to global flows and a fresh inflation impulse.

Fed independence: The Warsh-led Fed and its inflation-first framing keep policy-credibility questions live for the dollar and the long end.

Prediction markets (Polymarket): 16 Sep FOMC — ~68% hold, ~31% +25 bp, ~1% cut; year-end hike odds have been rising, with most economists now seeing no cut before 2027. Confirm live odds before acting.

12 • Asia setup — Monday open

Asia likely opens cautious-to-mixed. The backdrop: a softer Friday Wall Street led by semis, a hawkish-Warsh bid to the dollar and U.S. yields, and gold at records. The first hard tell is China's NBS PMI at 09:30 HKT — a sub-50 cluster pressures AUD, NZD and Chinese equities; a surprise back above 50 supports miners and the reflation trade. Watch Asia semis (TSMC, SK Hynix, Samsung) to follow through on Friday's NVDA/INTC weakness, and the yen/JGB complex for spillover from higher U.S. long-end yields. Gold's strength is a tailwind for Australian and Chinese miners. Thin conviction until Tuesday's ISM and, ultimately, Friday's payrolls.

13 • Beyond the markets — coming up

US Open tennis (New York): quarter- and semi-finals run through the week at Flushing Meadows; the women's final is Sat 12 Sep and the men's Sun 13 Sep (next weekend).

Formula 1 — Italian GP (Monza): race weekend building to Sun 6 Sep; a marquee tifosi event and a read on luxury/auto sponsorship sentiment.

Apple: the annual iPhone event is expected the following week (~8–9 Sep; iPhone 18 line and a rumored foldable "iPhone Ultra") — date unconfirmed; a supply-chain and Asia-tech catalyst on the horizon.

Sport / calendar: U.S. college football Week 1 is underway; the NFL season kicks off Thu 10 Sep (next week). U.S. Labor Day is Mon 7 Sep — markets trade normally this week.

Dates for Apple and OPEC+ are tentative/unconfirmed — verify before relying on them.
