

GLOBAL WEEK AHEAD

Everything coming up. Week of Mon 10 August 2026. All times GMT+8.

The weekend companion to your Daily Need to Know. Prepared Sun 9 Aug 2026, ahead of the Monday Asia open.

Setup snapshot — where we closed Friday

US indices ripped to records into the weekend as a weak jobs print reset the rate path. Levels below are Friday 7 Aug closes; risk ranges are Hedgeye's immediate-term signals.

Instrument	Fri 7 Aug close	Day	Into Monday / note
S&P 500	7,757.64	+0.62%	Record close; upper third of 7,375–7,826 range
Nasdaq Composite	26,690.62	+1.30%	Pinned at top of 24,441–26,701 range — little room left
Dow Jones Ind.	54,036.93	+0.28%	+151.83 pts; record territory
US 10Y yield	≈4.60%	-7 bps	Eased on soft jobs; Hedgeye range 4.59–4.74 (bullish)
US 2Y yield	≈4.15%	lower	Front-end richened as Sept hike odds fell to 42%
US Dollar (DXY)	99.48	-0.45%	Soft; range 99.01–100.71 (bearish TREND)
Gold (spot)	≈$4,350	+2.6%	Above 4,331 range top; #Quad3 #1 long
Silver (spot)	≈$64.3	higher	Range 57–66 (neutral) — near the top
Brent crude	≈$83.5	firmer	Hormuz risk premium; watch a reopening
WTI crude	≈$78.3	firmer	Range 72.63–82.60 (bearish TREND)
Bitcoin	≈$64,900	+1.0%	Below 200-day (≈$70,965) — laggard vs metals
VIX	14.90	-1.7%	Near floor of 14.74–17.88 — complacent into CPI

TL;DR

TL;DR — One number owns the week: US CPI (July), Wed 12 Aug, 20:30 GMT+8. The Fed sat at 3.50–3.75% on 29 Jul and had been openly debating hikes against ~4%-handle inflation — until Friday's shock -23k July payrolls (with -103k of revisions) flipped the tape, cutting September hike odds to 42% and driving the S&P to a record 7,757.64.

A hot core CPI revives the hike scare and hits duration and high-multiple tech; a soft one supercharges the "Fed forced to ease on a cracking labor market" trade. PPI (Thu) and Retail Sales (Fri) complete an inflation-then-consumer gauntlet, and CoreWeave (Tue) stress-tests the AI trade. Hedgeye's map: #Quad3 — long Gold and Healthcare, with indices pinned at the top of their ranges (8 of 9 show downside > upside).

The big picture — what to watch

- 1) CPI Wednesday is the whole week. Inflation has run sticky near a 4% handle (May CPI +4.2% y/y, a 3-yr high) even as the Fed holds. Core is the swing factor.

Watch: A firm core (roughly ≥0.3% m/m) puts hike odds back on and pressures long-duration and high-multiple tech; a soft core sends gold, healthcare and rate-sensitives higher. This is the binary.

- 2) The jobs crack. July payrolls fell -23k, the prior two months were cut a combined -103k, and unemployment ticked to 4.1%. Growth-slowing + firm-inflation is textbook #Quad3.

Watch: Thursday jobless claims for confirmation of a labor rollover. A stagflationary mix keeps Gold ranked above equity beta.

- 3) AI / neocloud stress test. CoreWeave (Tue, post-close) is the tell for the whole AI-capex complex — revenue seen up ~111% to ≈$2.56B.

Watch: Backlog, customer concentration and financing costs. Nasdaq sits at the very top of its 24,441–26,701 range, so a disappointment has room to bite; a clean beat validates the melt-up.

- 4) Gold's phase transition. Hedgeye flags a textbook bullish breakout across TRADE and TREND, gold's #1 back-tested #Quad3 allocation; +2.6% Friday to ≈$4,350.

Watch: Whether spot holds the 4,103 range floor. Drivers: the Hormuz safe-haven bid and the real-yield path off CPI.

- 5) Oil and the Strait of Hormuz. Brent ≈$83, WTI ≈$78 with a live geopolitical premium and reopening chatter.

Watch: A Hormuz reopening deflates the inflation scare (dovish for the CPI read-through); re-escalation spikes crude and revives hike fear. Hedgeye WTI range 72.63–82.60, bearish TREND.

- 6) Positioning is stretched. 8 of 9 major Hedgeye risk ranges show more downside to the low than upside to the high, and VIX at 14.9 sits near its range floor.

Watch: Complacency into a binary CPI. Optionality is cheap here — the tell to hedge is VIX pressing toward 17.9.

Economic calendar — the week ahead (GMT+8)

US morning data lands in the HK evening (ET + 12h). Consensus figures move on the wire — confirm on a live calendar before acting; where a number isn't firmly set below, it is flagged.

WEEKEND / SUN 9 AUG — SETS THE MONDAY TONE

09:30 China CPI & PPI (Jul) — Deflation risk is the swing factor for China/HK risk appetite into Monday; PPI has been stuck in negative territory. Consensus soft — confirm.

MONDAY 10 AUG

— No tier-1 US data — Markets digest Friday's jobs shock and the weekend China inflation print. China Jul credit/aggregate-financing data is due in the 10–15 Aug window (date floats — confirm).

TUESDAY 11 AUG

12:30 RBA rate decision + Statement on Monetary Policy — Hold at 4.35% widely expected; the SoMP forecasts and any easing bias drive AUD and front-end ACGBs.

17:00 Germany ZEW expectations (Aug) — Read on European sentiment amid tariff and energy uncertainty.

18:00 US NFIB Small Business Optimism (Jul) — Second-tier, but a labor/pricing-plans tell one day before CPI.

post-close CoreWeave (CRWV) earnings — The AI-capex bellwether — see Earnings.

WEDNESDAY 12 AUG — CPI DAY

14:00 UK CPI (Jul) — BoE path input; sterling and gilts sensitive to any services-inflation surprise.

20:30 US CPI (Jul) ★ main event — The fulcrum. Hot core → hike scare back on, duration and high-multiple tech hit; soft core → gold/healthcare/rate-sensitives rip. Recent trend ~4% y/y.

post-close Cisco (CSCO) earnings — date to confirm — AI-networking orders and margin guide in focus (see Earnings; sources split Aug 12–19).

THURSDAY 13 AUG

14:00 UK Q2 GDP (prelim) — Growth check for a stagflation-watchful BoE.

20:30 US PPI (Jul) — Confirms or refutes the CPI signal; feeds core-PCE nowcasts (the Fed's target gauge).

20:30 US initial jobless claims — Post-payrolls, the highest-frequency labor tell — a jump hardens the #Quad3 case.

FRIDAY 14 AUG

- 20:30 US Retail Sales (Jul) — The consumer read after CPI/PPI — spending resilience vs a cracking labor market.
- 20:30 US Empire State mfg (Aug) — tentative — First August activity survey; date clusters mid-month — confirm.
- 20:30 US import prices (Jul) — Tariff/FX pass-through into the goods pipeline.
- 21:15 US Industrial Production (Jul) — Factory-side growth pulse.
- 22:00 U. Michigan sentiment (Aug, prelim) — Inflation-expectations sub-index is the piece that can move the Fed narrative into Jackson Hole.

Central banks & policy events

- RBA — Tue 11 Aug, 12:30. Hold at 4.35% expected, alongside the quarterly Statement on Monetary Policy. The nuance is the forecast set and whether the board signals a cut later in 2026.
- Fed — no meeting. Funds at 3.50–3.75% (held 29 Jul); next FOMC 15–16 Sep. Fed speakers are likely around CPI (schedule unconfirmed). July minutes land ~19 Aug and the Jackson Hole Symposium (~20–22 Aug) looms — Powell the headliner.
- RBNZ — next OCR ~20 Aug (next week, tentative). Not in this window but on the radar for NZD.

Watch: Prediction markets price 57% probability of zero Fed cuts in 2026; Friday's jobs miss cut September hike odds to 42% from 58%. CPI is what re-prices this.

Earnings on deck

The tail of Q2 season, and it belongs to the neoclouds and networking. Dates verified where possible; flagged where sources diverge — confirm via company IR.

- CoreWeave (CRWV) — Tue 11 Aug, post-close. Revenue seen up ~111% to ~$2.56B. The single most important AI print of the week: backlog, customer concentration and financing costs tell you whether the compute shortage is monetizable or just capex with extra steps.
- Super Micro (SMCI) — expected ~11 Aug (confirm). Server-assembler margins show where pricing power sits in the AI stack.
- Cisco (CSCO) — mid-week, date disputed (Aug 12–13 per feeds; some list Aug 19 — confirm IR). Street wants mid-teens revenue growth on AI-networking orders with gross margin guided down ~2 pts y/y. Consensus ~$16.8B revenue, ~$1.17 EPS.
- Semicap & industrials — tentative mid/late week. Applied Materials (AMAT) and Deere (DE) typically report ~13–14 Aug — confirm dates. AMAT frames foundry/memory capex; DE is the ag/industrial demand read.

Read: Next week brings the consumer — Walmart, Home Depot, Target (~19–21 Aug). This week is the AI-capex verdict; keep Nasdaq's 26,701 ceiling in mind on any miss.

Catalysts & events

- Wed 12 Aug — a loaded day. US CPI coincides with a total solar eclipse (Greenland, Iceland, Spain, western Russia) and the Perseid meteor peak. Markets care about the first; the sky handles the rest.
- Trade policy. US–China detente/tariff-truce headlines remain a live tape-driver; any deadline or extension news moves risk and the CNH. Specifics fluid — watch the wire.
- Expiries & index. No monthly US equity OpEx this week (next is Fri 21 Aug); weekly expiries cluster around CPI, adding intraday gamma.
- Looming. China Jul activity data (industrial production, retail sales, FAI) via the NBS press conference Mon 17 Aug; Gamescom 26–30 Aug (Opening Night Live 25 Aug).

Rates, currencies & commodities — levels to watch

- Rates. 10Y ≈4.60% inside Hedgeye's 4.59–4.74 (bullish on yield — biased higher); 2Y ≈4.15%, curve ~+45 bps. HYG 78.95–79.70 bullish (credit calm), LQD 105.4–107.1 bearish (IG/duration pressured). CPI/PPI set the duration tone; 4.74 is the pain line.
- FX. DXY 99.48 in a bearish 99.01–100.71 range; EUR/USD ≈1.156. Dollar soft on the jobs miss — a hot CPI is the obvious squeeze catalyst. AUD keys off the RBA/SoMP.
- Commodities. Gold 4,103–4,331 (bullish) trading above the top; Silver 57–66 (neutral) at ≈$64; Copper 6.40–6.85 (bullish); WTI 72.63–82.60 (bearish) on Hormuz cross-currents; Nat Gas bearish.

Watch: Gold's 4,100 floor and the dollar's 100.71 ceiling are the two lines that define whether the reflation-hedge trade or the hawkish-repricing trade wins the week.

Hedgeye risk ranges & regime — the map for the week

Regime: #Quad3 (growth slowing, inflation accelerating). Favored longs: Gold (#1), Healthcare (XLV), Software/Tech (XLK, not Semis), REITs (XLRE), Energy. Long/short discipline within sectors (e.g., long TEAM / short TTD). Semis/DRAM and South Korea (EWY) are on the short side — the KOSPI has crashed –31.3%. Source: Hedgeye Early Look, “#Quad3 Longs: Gold, Healthcare, etc.,” Keith McCullough, 7 Aug 2026.

Instrument	Immediate-term risk range	TREND
UST 10Y yield	4.59 – 4.74	Bullish
High Yield (HYG)	78.95 – 79.70	Bullish
IG Corp (LQD)	105.4 – 107.1	Bearish
S&P 500 (SPX)	7,375 – 7,826	Bullish
Nasdaq Comp (COMPQ)	24,441 – 26,701	Bullish
Russell 2000 (RUT)	2,901 – 3,058	Bullish
Tech (XLK)	174 – 190	Bullish
Healthcare (XLV)	160 – 168	Bullish
REITs (XLRE)	44.40 – 46.20	Bullish
VIX	14.74 – 17.88	Bearish
US Dollar (DXY)	99.01 – 100.71	Bearish
WTI Crude	72.63 – 82.60	Bearish
Nat Gas	2.55 – 2.79	Bearish
Gold (spot)	4,103 – 4,331	Bullish
Copper (spot)	6.40 – 6.85	Bullish
Silver (spot)	57 – 66	Neutral

Where we sit / what would change the regime. The S&P (7,757.64) sits in the upper third of its range; the Nasdaq (26,690.62) is essentially at the ceiling (26,701); VIX (14.9) is near its floor; gold is at/above its top; the dollar is near its floor. That is a fully-invested, complacent tape. A hot CPI that pushes 10Y through 4.74 and revives hike bets would pressure the #Quad3 longs and squeeze the dollar higher. A sharper growth scare (claims spiking, a CoreWeave miss) tips the model toward #Quad4 — favoring Treasuries, USD and gold over equity beta. Until then, the signal is: own the range, respect the ceiling.

Positioning & themes

- Crowded. Mag7 / AI-capex (CoreWeave is the test) and long gold/precious. Momentum is stretched — silver sits neutral at the top of 57–66.

- Stretched. Indices at the top of their ranges (8 of 9 downside > upside); VIX 14.9 near lows makes hedges cheap. The KOSPI's -31.3% crash is the reminder of how violent a single-market/semis unwind can be.
 - Credit. HYG bullish (no stress yet), LQD bearish (duration/IG heavier). High-yield spreads are the tell if CPI runs hot.
- Tells: VIX 17.9 = get defensive; UST 10Y 4.74 = duration pain; Gold 4,100 = trend support. Any one breaking sets the tone.

Geopolitics — what's live

- Iran / Strait of Hormuz. The oil swing factor — reopening chatter vs re-escalation runs straight into the CPI inflation channel.
 - Russia / Ukraine. The Trump administration is pushing a peace-deal track (summit chatter), having shifted off a ceasefire-first stance. Meaningful de-escalation would pressure oil and gold and add a risk-on impulse.
 - US-China trade. Tariff-truce/detente talks remain a live catalyst; a deadline or extension moves risk and the CNH.
- Odds: Polymarket ~57% for zero Fed cuts in 2026; September hike odds ~42% (down from 58% pre-jobs). South Korea (KOSPI -31.3%) is the contagion name to watch.

Asia setup — Monday open

Asia should open digesting two crosscurrents: a tailwind from Friday's Wall Street records and a softer dollar (helpful for EM/Asia FX and the reflation-hedge trade), against the drag from weekend China CPI/PPI if deflation persists. Korea stays the fragile spot after the KOSPI's -31.3% crash and ongoing semis pressure; a firmer yen (weak DXY) is a mild headwind for Japanese exporters. Net: a mixed-to-firm open, with the China inflation print and the KOSPI as the intraday tells, precious-metals names bid, and AUD in focus into Tuesday's RBA. Respect Nasdaq's 26,701 ceiling on any gap-up.

Beyond the markets — coming up

- Total solar eclipse — Wed 12 Aug. Totality crosses Greenland, Iceland and northern Spain (with western Russia) — the first total eclipse over Iceland and mainland Spain in generations. Same day as CPI; different kind of shadow.
- Perseid meteor shower — peak 12-13 Aug. Peaking near a New Moon this year, so dark-sky viewing is excellent, midnight-to-dawn.
- Gamescom — 26-30 Aug (Opening Night Live 25 Aug), Cologne. Exhibitor space sold out for the first time ever; a forward marker for the games complex.
- Space. SpaceX's Falcon 9 Starlink cadence continues through the week; check live schedules for exact windows.
